

Central Valley La Prensa Merlot

Each morning, through misty mountains, Tomás delivered more than newspapers – he brought the world to every doorstep. A simple act, turned into a daily event of connection.

Region:

The grapes hail from Chile's Central Valley one of the country's premier wine regions. With a Mediterranean-like climate – hot, dry summers and mild, brief winters – the area benefits from the cooling effects of the nearby ocean. Morning fogs ensure slow, even ripening, resulting in wines of exceptional quality and complexity.

Información técnica

The grapes are harvested in small crates and, following a manual selection of the bunches on tables, are destemmed and left for 2–3 days at very low temperatures. Fermentation takes place at moderate temperatures to maximise the extraction of fruity aromas and soft tannins. After fermentation, post-fermentation maceration is carried out to produce a wine that is mature, complex and elegant on the palate.
